The saving in the Soup Tureen

Bovril makes soups and stews so much more nourishing that they can often take the place of expensive joints. It saves many dollars in the kitchen. Bovril is the concentrated goodness of the best beef—so strong that it cannot possibly be manufactured in cheap cans. Insist upon the real thing—Bovril in the Bovril bag.

A would-be humorist, meeting an Irishman, thought he would be funny at his expense. "Hello, Mike," he said. "I'll give you eight pence for a shilling."

"Will ya now?" asked Mike.

"Yes," said the humorist. The Irishman handed over the shilling, and his friend put eightpence into his palm in return. "Right in peace," he explained. "Not bad, is it?"

"No," answered Mike, "but the shilling is!"

It is reported that the British board of agriculture are framing a great scheme for the employment of female labor on the land, and an active canvass may shortly be commenced. 400,000 women will be required to take the places of the male agriculturists who have joined the colors.

Every Neuralgic Headache Cured! Use "Nerviline"—It Won't Fail

The Miraculous Healing Power of this Liniment Is Unfailing RUB ON NERVILINE

There may be a thousand pains; yet, excepting sciatica, neuralgia is the worst. Most remedies are not strong enough or penetrating enough to relieve neuralgia. You know everything you have tried has failed to give you even momentary relief, and you have decided that neuralgia must be borne forever.

Do not make this mistake—try NERVILINE.

Apply it to the sore spot. Notice the glow that spreads deeper and wider as Nerviline's curative power is carried further and further into the tissue. How quickly the pain is soothed! How rapidly it lessens! In a little while you have forgotten the pain—it has actually gone.

Neuralgia gives Nerviline an opportunity of demonstrating its superiority over all other pain remedies. Not magic, as you might imagine after you have used it—simply the application of scientific knowledge to the relief of pain.

Nerviline is a great outcome of the most scientific research. You cannot afford to be without it, because pain comes quickly and comes to us all. It is used to cure the aches and pains in the whole family. Large bottles, 50 cents; trial size, 25 cents; at druggists, or the Caxatrhosone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Disputed Territory

"Oh, mamma, I'll never disobey you again!" said Susie tearfully.

"Why, Susie, what have you done?"

"Well, I drank my milk at lunch and then I ate a pickle; and the milk said to the pickle, 'You get out of here,' and the pickle said, 'I won't!' and now they are having an awful fuss."

Give a reckless man rope enough and he will pawn it for a drink.

SPRING BLOOD IS WATERY BLOOD

How to Get New Health and New Strength at This Season

Spring ailments are not imaginary. Even the most robust find the winter months most trying to their health. Confinement, indoors, often in overheated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms—in the home, the office, the shop and the school—taxes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery and is clogged with impurities. Some people have headaches and a feeling of languor. Others are low-spirited and nervous. Still others are troubled with disfiguring pimples and skin eruptions, while some get up in the morning feeling just as tired as when they went to bed. These are all spring symptoms that the blood is out of order and that a medicine is needed. Many people take purgative medicines in the spring. This is a serious mistake. You cannot cure yourself with a medicine that does not reach your system and leaves you weaker still. This is all that a purgative does. What you need to give you health and strength in the spring is a tonic medicine that will enrich the blood and soothe the tangled nerves. And the one always reliable tonic and blood purifier is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills not only banish spring weakness but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anæmia, nervous debility, indigestion, rheumatism and other diseases due to bad blood. In proof of this Mrs. D. E. Hughes, Hazleton, Sask., says: "About a year ago I was badly run down, my nerves were all unstrung, and I could not go upstairs without stopping to rest. As I was a long way from a doctor, I determined to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in the course of a few weeks I felt like a new person. As an all round restorative I can heartily recommend this medicine."

If you are ailing this spring you can not afford, in your own interest, to overlook so valuable a medicine as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or, by mail, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

They Shot Him

A Predatory Hawk Is Used to Point a Moral Lesson

Cora Francis Stoddard, the president of the Scientific Temperance Federation of Boston, had occasion to get up some ammunition for a local option fight in Hudson, Mass. One of the features was a "stuffed" hawk that had annoyed some farmers by killing their hens. The angry farmers shot the hawk and stuffed it. Miss Stoddard put the hawk on exhibition in Hudson with the legend: "This hawk killed forty hens. Did the farmers license him? They shot him."

The farmers did not say, "That's what the use, let 'em go on killing the hens so we can get the feathers."

They did not say, "If we kill this hawk some other hawk will come and why discriminate between hawks? If we could kill all the hawks at once it would be different."

The farmers did not say, "That hawk has got a lot of money invested in claws and we don't want to destroy all his property."

The farmers did not say, "I am against interfering with a hawk's personal liberty. Haven't he a right to make his living just as he sees fit? Why should we interfere with a hawk's private business and dictate to him as to what he shall eat and drink?"

The farmers did not try to work off any of this sort of rot. They destroyed the hawk that was destroying their chickens. Just as it is proposed to destroy the institution known as the saloon which is grinding up the sons and daughters of the mob in order to make money out of their downfall.—H. Arnott, M.B., M.C.P.S.

Warts on the hands is a disfigurement that troubles many ladies. Holloway's Corn Cream will remove the blemishes without pain.

How Portugal Can Help

Portugal's entry into the war will be of some value to the allies. By a treaty going back to the early years of the last century, Portugal is an ally of Great Britain, is bound in the event of war to take a certain share in the hostilities if called upon.

Hitherto Portugal has contented herself with rendering some assistance in Africa, but presumably Germany's declaration of war upon her will incline her to more active efforts. Whether she will dispatch an expeditionary army abroad remains to be seen. At most she could spare only 75,000 men, while her naval forces are negligible. It is more likely, therefore, that she will place her ports and colonial possessions at the allies' disposal, and turn over to them many of the German ships whose seizure has been the direct cause of the outbreak of hostilities.

Stave Island, in the St. Lawrence river, has been selected by the military department for a rest retreat, and summer home for convalescent soldiers.

Extend Scope of Act

Industrial Dispute Measure to Cover War Munitions Work

The announcement that an order-in-council has been passed extending the scope of the industrial disputes investigation act, hitherto embracing only public utilities to include all branches of the war munitions business is of exceptional interest in labor and manufacturing circles in view of the allegiance that certain shell plants and other firms engaged on war work were not paying fair wages and the efforts of the trades and labor congress of Canada to have a fair wage clause inserted in all British contracts for munitions. When 10 or more persons are employed they can now demand a board of conciliation to investigate wages or conditions of employment and the company must agree to reference of the disputes to arbitration by a tribunal of three—one appointed representing the workers, another the company and the third named by the department of labor.

The amendment to the act brings within its scope all firms in Canada engaged in the production of war supplies. In the event of the fair wage clause which the trades and labor congress officials unsuccessfully sought to have inserted in munitions contracts, boards of conciliation will now be compulsory where the workers demand them to adjust their grievances, and pending such investigations there can be no strikes, nor can any munitions firm lock out its employees.

A Cure for Rheumatism.—A painful and persistent form of rheumatism is caused by impurities in the blood, the result of defective action of the liver and kidneys. The blood becomes tainted by the introduction of uric acid, which causes much pain in the tissues and in the joints. Parnele's Vegetable Pills are known to have effected many remarkable cures. Their use is strongly recommended. A course of them will convince anyone of their value.

Since the beginning of the war the National Land Council of England has been training and placing women on the land for stock breeding, fruit and market gardening, and other branches of agricultural work. Upwards of 400 women have been training, and over 2,000 have been placed for ordinary farm work and market gardening. They are now organizing into individuals and large and small groups for the spring and summer work.

Mourning is absolutely prohibited in Germany; no wounded or crippled soldier is allowed to walk in the streets of the capital and of important towns. They can only show themselves when they are able to wear their uniforms in quite a military way and with all decency.

Approximately 354,475 "citizens of military age in the United States now outside the army have had military training.

The Oil of Power.—It is not claimed for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil that it will cure every ill, but its uses are so various that it may be looked upon as a general pain killer. It has achieved that greatness for itself and all attempts to surpass it have failed. Its excellence is known to all who have tested its virtues and learnt by experience.

Nervous

Take Two Tablets at Bedtime and you will arise feeling Refreshed, Bright & Vigorous.

When you feel gloomy and depressed and cannot sleep, suspect your nerves. When you shrink from company and would rather be alone you are losing confidence in yourself, and that can only mean weak nerves. It is not natural to be solitary and unsocial, it shows clearly that vitality has become reduced, that the nervous system is correspondingly weakened. But take Dr. Cassell's Tablets for such condition and you will be astonished at the results, astonished at the bright new health you will gain, at the splendid vigour and vitality they will give you.

Mr. Poole, a business man of 60, Infrmary Road, Sheffield, England, says:—"I had lost all confidence in myself, and was actually afraid to meet people. The alertness and activity I had formerly possessed were gone. My digestion was feeble, and sleeplessness was terrible. But when I commenced taking Dr. Cassell's Tablets I soon felt better. Now I am as well and fit as any man of my age."

Dr. Cassell's Tablets are Nutritive, Restorative, Alterative, and Anti-Spasmic, and of great therapeutic value in all derangements of the Nerve and Functional Systems in old or young. They are the recognised modern home remedy for Nervous Breakdown, Nerve and Spinal Paralysis, Infantile Paralysis, Rickets, St. Vitus' Dance, Anæmia, Sleeplessness, Kidney Disease, Dyspepsia, Stomach Catarrh, Brain Pain, Headache, Palpitation, Wasting Diseases, Vital Exhaustion, Loss of Flesh, and Premature Decay. Specially valuable for Nursing Mothers and during the Critical Periods of Life.

Brutality and Starvation
In Enemy Camp

"The world will be shocked," said a British soldier who recently escaped from a German prison camp, "when it learns the truth about the way we have been treated by the Germans."

"But I am all against any reprisals. I know what would happen. What we have suffered has been due not so much to organised bad treatment as to indifference and neglect."

"If the Germans were to start thinking out ideas for ill-treating and torturing their prisoners they would work it down to a fine art and put the Chinese tortures completely in the shade."

"It is constantly said that the Germans vend their spite particularly on the English soldiers. Is that so?"

"Earlier in the war it was terrible for anyone who was a Britisher. They spat at us, thumped us with their fists, struck us with their rifles, and baited us with the heavy end. For the least act that could be called a misdemeanour we were taken out and punished most severely."

"The other day there was a sketch in the papers made by a French soldier of a British Tommy tied to a post as a form of punishment. His head was hanging down on his chest and he looked limp and almost unconscious. That was a true picture of life in a German prison camp."

"I have seen it many a time, for the men so punished were there in full view as an example to all the others. And this cruel form of punishment was for the most trivial offence, such as giving an answer to the guard or daring to complain of anything."

STARVATION RATIONS.
 "Later on this hatred to the English was not so marked, but things got worse in another direction. The food became scarce and was of an awful quality. Small loaves of bread were served out, made of poor stuff, badly cooked and dry. One those loaves had to last ten of us the whole day."

"It was starvation rations, and you won't be surprised at what we did. We became pigs and ferreted about in refuse heaps for anything we could find that would go down without making you sick. I have eaten many a handful of potato peelings, and been mighty glad to get them. And so did lots of others in our camp."

CHAPTER V.

There was dead silence in the room for some moments when Lady Ursula had made her decision known to her husband and brother.

Then Paul, who, to do him justice, seemed to be deeply touched by her simple devotion, put up his two hands and held her in them.

Then he turned his face to Lord Eastling. At him he did not look with the same good humor. It was with a return to a frown that he said coldly: "You hear, Lord Eastling? You hear what my wife says. What have you to reply to that?"

In truth, the young man appeared to scarcely know what to say. He had expected difficulty, but not exactly in this shape. His sister was so serene, so confident, so quiet; she spoke with such an utter absence of feminine hysteria that she baffled him. After a moment's hesitation, he said:

"It is not grammatical, it was not eloquent, but the speech was good of its kind. It left Paul without any excuse. He shrugged his shoulders. "Lady Ursula," said he, "well, of course, do as she pleases."

She had withdrawn her hands from his shoulders, and she now looked round at her brother. For the first time, it seemed that a slight shadow doubt fell over her. Why should Paul, said, considering her own staunchness, her having a short interview with her brother. Yet it was plain that he did mind very much.

There was a very short silence, and then she said:

"If you don't mind, Paul, I think I'd better let him tell me what he has to say. And if he wants to speak without you, it doesn't make any difference, does it? You can trust me to be fair, can't you?"

"Why is it necessary, unless he has some lie to tell about me behind my back, which he doesn't dare repeat to my face, that he should speak to you alone?" demanded Paul, quietly, in deed, but with conviction.

WOMAN HAD NERVOUS TROUBLE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have also had my periods take it and it did her lots of good. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it."—Mrs. DEWITT SINCERBOUGH, West Danby, N. Y.

Sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, backache, headaches, dragging sensations, all point to female derangements which may be overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The recent criticism in the press of the Anglo-Japanese alliance induced Premier Count Okuma to give an interview in which he condemned what he characterized as petty efforts to create an agitation against Great Britain. The premier declared unequivocally that there would be no watering in Japan's fidelity to the alliance.

She turned to her brother. "Tell me, Tom, have you anything worse to say than what you have already said?" she asked.

He took up the challenge energetically. "Yes," he said, "I have a great deal more to say, more than I can possibly tell you unless we are quite by ourselves."

Lady Ursula was growing nervous, as he was shaken out of her calmness. Not of her confidence. Paul Payne suddenly changed from gentle to angry.

"Surely," he said, "this isn't fair. I'm a member of your family now, Lord Eastling."

"Perhaps," interrupted the viscount hotly.

"What do you mean by that?"—Paul left Lady Ursula, and with drenched fists held down firmly at his sides, came across the room to the young man.

Lord Eastling, though feeling that he was doing the most dreadful thing he had ever been called upon to do in his life, stood firm.

"From what I have heard of you to-day," he said, in a voice which he had made work to keep steady, "I can't feel even that you were a bachelor when you went through the ceremony of marriage with my sister this morning."

"But my wife's sister's sister's sister," Paul responded so promptly and so effectively to this intimation that her pitiful protest was drowned in the explosion of his resentment. He made an attempt to lay violent hands upon her, but she, with a quickness of mind behind the table and said briefly:

"Bully as I am, I am not a coward. Let us hear you have to say before we appeal to our fists—and before a lady!"

Paul, whose pale face was drawn and tremulous, recovered his composure with a strong effort, and laying his right hand firmly on the table, said:

"You have no right to impute such an awful thing to me. Supposing you have heard rumors against me, you have never heard that."

Lord Eastling, with his head, felt, in the voice of the other as he made this protest.

"Come now," repeated Paul, leaning forward, and glaring into the young man's face, "confess now, open up, honestly, that whatever you have heard, and whoever you may have heard the calumnies from, you have never been told that I was a married man."

Lord Eastling raised his head. "That's true," he said.

"A little cry, feeble, plaintive, made him turn and look round, time to see his sister sink upon the sofa with an ash-white face, and a look of joy and relief shining in her blue eyes."

Paul stood up. "I'm satisfied," he said briefly. "Tell your sister what you like, since you acknowledge that she is my wife."

He swung across the room and disappeared into the corridor, leaving Lord Eastling with no pretence of supposing that he wanted to overhear what was said about him.

Disconcerted and afraid, the viscount turned to Lady Ursula. Coming close to her, he bent down, and said gently:

"I'm awfully sorry for all this, dear. But I couldn't help myself. I've heard such things about the fellow today that I had to come."

She sat up, not angry or resentful, but calm and dignified.

"Who told you?" she said.

"The police."

She shuddered a little, and then recovered herself. There was a long pause.

"Shall I tell you what they said?" he asked in a low voice.

"Why should you?" she said. "Since he says it isn't true, it is my husband I must believe."

"But if you have proof?"

She turned upon him quickly. "Have you?"

He hesitated. It was true that he had none. He had only the word of a man whom he could trust. That, after all, was quite the same thing—in his eyes, at any rate.

"I know that I've told you the truth."

"Well, supposing what you told me is true? Supposing he did something once which might have brought upon him a heavy punishment? It is not for me to be his judge, is it?"

"He was not good enough for you?"

"But that's what he told me himself," urged she with vivacity. "Of course that was absurd, but I took it to mean that he had done things which I should not have looked upon as right. And since he was so outspoken, so truthful with me, I can't well reproach him after marriage, with what he has said to me."

Lord Eastling was silent. The position was a difficult one. Paul had, in fact, placed him in a predicament for this present emergency. Of course, he had not been precise as to his wondering, of course he had spoken of his illness vaguely, leaving an impression upon the simple woman that they were of the usual masculine sort, the result of youthful high spirits and carelessness rather than of criminal instincts.

"You are infatuated," was all he could say.

"Oh, no, don't say that," she said gently. "Don't, Tom. You wouldn't if you knew how humbly I have prayed for direction in connection with this love of mine, how I have begged for forgiveness if I have cared too much for a human being."

"Don't call it an infatuation. I hope it is not that. But indeed I have been so happy in finding myself cared for by a man so kind and so sweet-tempered, that I feel I deserve the pain for this interview to drive me back to the remembrance that my love is only human after all."

He threw himself on the sofa beside her, touched to the quick by the simplicity of her devotion. It was heart-rending to have had to try to open her eyes. It was almost a consolation to find that so far he had completely known quite well you have only spoken because you felt you ought. You have been misled, that's all. I love you for taking so much trouble and all I wish is that you had been able to speak only to me, so as to keep such horrible things from Paul's ears."

"What could he do in the face of such an infatuation as this?" Lord Eastling felt that he was felled on every side.

"Forgive me, Ursula, you will forgive me, won't you?"

"I am not strong enough to know that there was nothing to forgive. Smiling into her brother's face with a horrible thought in Paul's eyes, so seldom lacked in her, she said tenderly:

Naming The Farm

The Farm Name Should be Appropriate and Suggestive

You have a large dairy farm putting out high grade dairy butter. Your butter is all that you claim for it. It comes from the Meadow Brook Dairy Farm. The thrifty housewife phones her grocery order to the dealer who handles your butter, if she knows your product she says, "I want a pound of butter, not just butter, but Meadow Brook Dairy butter."

The farm name should be appropriate. It should be suggestive. Sunny Brook Stock Farm should be near a sparkling little brooklet, not on a bald hill slope. Maple Grove Stock Farm should have a maple grove, and Pine Ridge Poultry Farm should be on a pine ridge. The name chosen should be characteristic of the farm for which it is intended. It should be plainly and neatly painted on a substantial signboard placed at the entrance drive to the farm home. Along with it should go the names of the products or product of which the farm makes a specialty, as "Pine Ridge Berry Farm—A Specialty of Strawberry Plants and Raspberry Bushes—J. P. Jaxon and Sons."

This should appear, as well, on all letter-heads and envelopes used in connection with the business correspondence of the farm. In these days of highly developed advertising and specialization the farm without a name is minus the link which brings its products before the public economist or seller properly.

HANDY HUSBAND

Knew How to Get Part of the Breakfast

"I know one dish I can prepare for breakfast as well as any cook on earth," said my husband one morning when the cook was ill and he had volunteered to help get breakfast. He appeared with his dish and I discovered it was Grape-Nuts which, of course, was easy to prepare for it was perfectly cooked at the factory, but it was a good illustration of the convenience of having Grape-Nuts at home. We took up Grape-Nuts immediately after returning from a five years' sojourn in a hot country. Our stomachs were in bad condition and we were in poor health generally.

"In a day or two we took Grape-Nuts better than any other kind of food on the table. We both gained steadily in health and strength, and this was caused by Grape-Nuts and Postum."

"A friend of ours had a similar experience. She was seriously ill with indigestion and could find nothing to eat that would not give her heartburn and palpitation, especially at night."

"She found that a small dish of Grape-Nuts with cream made her a satisfactory supper and gave her a comfortable night's rest. In a short time she gained several pounds in weight."

MISS DOLLIE MCCLAIN TELLS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Alberta Lady Tells of Quick and Complete Cure Through Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Ferguson Place, Alberta.—(Special).—"Yes, I am very glad I can say that I have tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them all that is claimed for them." So says Miss Dollie McClain, an estimable lady residing here.

I was troubled with a sore back that made me almost helpless. I took one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and my back is all right. I can do my work and the pain is all gone.

Thousands of women in Canada are suffering daily tortures from pain in the back. Thousands of others like Miss McClain are doing their work without an effort because they took the advice of others and cured their backache by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Every woman should use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are the finest tonic in the world because, acting directly on the kidneys, they tone up those organs to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. Pure blood means new strength for all parts of the body. New strength means new cheerfulness. That is why so many women so cheerfully testify to the benefit received from using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

To keep little ones well, the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. Nine-tenths of childhood ailments are caused by derangement of these organs. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Dr. J. C. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

No Rest With Asthma.—Asthma usually attacks at night, the one time when rest is needed most. Hence the loss of strength, the nervous debility, the loss of flesh and other evils which must be expected unless relief is secured. Fortunately relief is possible.

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has proved its merits through years of service. A trial will surely convince you.

Two bitter rivals were playing in the final round of a golf tournament and were even on the eighteenth hole. One of them, a distinguished old gentleman, had talked incessantly during the match, to the great annoyance of his opponent.

"Look here, Logan," burst out the latter, "if you don't stop your infernal chatter I'll crack you over the head with this brassie!"

"All right, Jones, swing away," was the calm response, "but remember this—it's going to cost you a stroke."

Tragic Folly

It will not be long before the fly season is again with us, accompanied by applications from the general press to "eat the fly." Simultaneously, the deadly poison fly paper makes its appearance, with the possible risk of fatal poisoning wherever there are children.

For during 1911 twenty-six cases of fly poisoning were reported from eleven states. In 1914 forty-six children were injured, and in some cases death.

This record is as similar to those of cholera infantum that even physicians of long experience are likely to confuse them, and the subsequent illness is ascribed to cholera infantum. The Michigan U. S. legislator has already passed a law regulating the sale of poisonous fly papers. The question should be considered by every civic body of Canada and the States to stop infantum mortality from an absolutely unnecessary cause.

What Else Matters?

We are fighting against a nation which by countless deeds of horror have proved themselves outlaws from humanity, who have trampled upon international law and the rights of the weak, who are striving to destroy all the higher ideals of Christian civilization and of human liberty and to substitute for them the brutalizing and materialistic principles of so-called German "Kultur." What does anything else matter compared with our winning the victory against such an enemy, should not the purpose to achieve it be the dominating interest of our present lives, shaping all our thoughts, and determining all our acts?—The Times of India.

Are you a sufferer? Know that terrible aching, dragging, down pain, that robs you of pleasure, even of rest, and makes life miserable? Don't you believe in the law of averages? If a remedy has cured hundreds of people, don't think it likely it might at least cure you?

Just give Zamb-Buk a fair trial! Mr. J. McGowan, of Dundas, suffered from piles for fifteen years. He says: "I tried pretty nearly everything, but got no permanent relief until I tried Zamb-Buk. This balm relieved the pain; continued use completely and permanently cured me."

The rich herbal essences of which Zamb-Buk is composed, quickly remove congestion, relieve the dull, gnawing, burning pain, and cure. All druggists and stores, or post-paid from Zamb-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 50c. box, 3 boxes $1.25.

HERE'S HEALTH IN A BLOOD

ANAEMIA

Disease germs take advantage of every weakness of the human system. Their greatest enemy is rich, red blood, but when the blood gets thin and watery they increase rapidly and easily gain the upper hand. In this way grip, pneumonia, consumption and other germ diseases get a foothold on the system almost before you know it. Anaemia or poverty of the blood makes itself known by paleness of the gums, lips and inside of the eyelids, you feel weak and languid, the heart's action weakens, you are easily tired out and find yourself short of breath.

The blood is thin and watery, and is lacking in the red corpuscles which represent the nutritious element of the blood. Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food increases the number of red corpuscles and thereby enriches the blood, it is the most effective means available of curing anaemia and fortifying the system against the attack of disease.

On account of the weakened condition of the blood from anaemia, there is always danger of developing Dropsy or Pernicious Anaemia, from which there is small chance of recovery.

With the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to build up the richness of the blood, the color is soon restored to the pallid skin, and you find yourself gaining in health and strength. The heart's action is strengthened and gradually the muscular weakness is replaced by new vigor and energy.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is truly doing wonders for many thousands of anemic men and women and young boys and girls, whose blood has got thin and weak. Put it to the test and you will better understand why so many people are enthusiastic in its praise.

The Need of Production

It must be plain to the most obstinate and unreasonable mind that twenty-four or twenty-five million of men cannot be withdrawn even from the swarming population of Europe without effecting a huge reduction in the produce of labour and of the soil. Women may in a measure supply the places of men,
but it must be remembered that women have also their sphere in the economies of life. Therefore in taking them to the land they are being taken, in the main, from other employment. Consequently, if for every man who goes to fight there was a woman to take his place in agriculture or other industry there would still be a deficiency, not only in labor but in production. At the present time 400,000 women are being called for to take the place of 250,000 British soldiers recruited from farm work.

Hence it is clear that no matter
what steps may be taken, either
during the war or after the war,
there must be an enormous shortage of the requirements across the Atlantic for many years to come. And that shortage for a period subsequent to the declaration of peace will be as keenly as at any time during the gigantic struggle. With the normal scramble for existence resumed there will be less immediate government control—in other words there will be less systematic regulation of supplies. To meet the huge demands that must succeed after consumption, tremendously less production and immensely greater wastage, there will be abundant use, not for one year's bountiful crops, but for similar blessings during a score of successive years. Where and how can this assured demand be met? There is but one answer to the dual question
—by the undevastated countries and by redoubled efforts at production
in those countries.

That Canada is not the only country that has not had its resources in large part exhausted or destroyed,
is true; but there is plenty of Europe not engaged in the war, have been drawn upon to the utmost by those so engaged; hence when the time comes all eyes will be turned from east to west for succor. Canada, being the nearest to the great centre
of demand, will, of necessity, apart from sentimental reasons, be the first looked to and will have the greatest opportunity. The bogy of released Russian harvests has been on parade since the war commenced,
but Russia, with twelve or fifteen million men called to arms, largely of the peasant class, has suffered and is suffering, like the rest. She, too, will need reorganizing, rejuvenating and regenerating. Hence, while for a few months after the outbreak of hostilities, there may have been something to be expected from the release of stores of wheat and other grain from Odessa and other Black Sea ports, there is nothing available now and there may be little in the next decade. Hence, Canada's role is plain—to go on producing, to go on garnering and storing, if necessary, in the sure and certain hope of ultimate profit and prosperity. There never was a time, and probably never will be a time

when we were more urgently called upon to produce, in increased quantities, not alone all articles of food, but every article that enters into the industrial life of peoples.

An Objective Point

The question has often been asked,
somewhat facetiously perhaps "do you keep cows, or do they keep you? To many daydream this has started a train of thought resulting in vastly improved prospects.

To come right down to business, why do you keep cows? Surely it is in order that they may contrIBUTE handsomely towards income. If you are already satisfied on that point, well and good; but, one excellent result of cow testing is the solid fact that it helps men to increase their incomes considerably; it is one main objective point reached. The same story is repeated in all provinces in the Dominion, it runs something like this: from a man at Barnston, Que. "My cows average almost two thousand pounds of milk more than two years ago," or again from a man at Peterburg, Ont., "I have increased four hundred pounds of milk
per cow, and hope to go up another fifty hundred," or this, from a man at Hangerville, Ont., "My herd is pretty near double in the last year by weeding out," and once more, from St. Boniface, Que., "My seven cows brought in $145
more this year, my records showed me it paid to care for them better."

The Dairy Division, Ottawa, will gladly send will record forms if you write for them. Be sure that each cow pays.

New Report on Water-Works of Canada

A new edition of "Water-works and Sewerage Systems of Canada," by Leo G.
Denis, has just been issued by the Commission of Conservation. In the present report the various physical and financial data respecting water-works have been brought up to date and a new section on sewerage systems has been added. The book is a royal octavo volume handsomely bound in cloth, contains 176 pages of text and is well illustrated with 25 half-tones and 5 diagrams.

In the year of Confederation there were only 7 water-works plants in Canada; to day there are 528. There have been built at a total cost of $123,729,433 and entail an annual maintenance charge of $4,558,539. The total daily consumption 438,777,000 imperial gallons, which gives an average daily consumption per capita of 111 gallons, ranging from 50 gallons in Manitoba to 143 in New Brunswick.

There are 296 plants supplied from springs or wells and 322 from lakes or streams. In 72 plants the water is filtered and in 21 plants it is treated with hypochloride. The municipally owned plants number 286. As to rates where specified it is shown that flat rates are used in 309 cases, meters in 30, and both flat and meter in 141.

The 279 sewerage systems in Canada, having an aggregate mileage of 4,223 and which have been built at a total cost of $74,504,418. In only 75 municipalities is the sewage treated. Proportionally to population, the west, with 28 treatment plants, makes a much better showing than the east, with 47. The total cost of the treatment plants is $3,218,925.

Douglas Fir is All Round Useful Wood

In the London "Illustrated London News" of a recent date, there appeared a picture of H.M.S. "Simulation," a battleship constructed of wood, which after serving various purposes known only to those in charge of naval operations, is shown stranded at Mulro, Isle of Lemnos; formerly the base for naval and military operations in connection with the Dardanelles.

It appears that the dummy battleship
was constructed at Belfast, the material used being Douglas fir, mainly from British Columbia.

It has been said that from the same
hovel: one warehouse, another villa;
bricks and mortar are mortar and bricks until the architect makes them something else. The block of granite which was an obstacle in the path of the weak becomes a stepping stone in the pathway of the resolute. The difficulties which debarment one man may still be the sinews of another, who looks on them as a sort of mental springboard by which to vault
across the gulf of failure on to the sure,
solid ground of full success.
